QLIKVIEW DATA DISCOVERY TOOL

INTENT TO SOLE SOURCE

Description: College of Charleston intends to sole source a Qlikview data discovery tool because of its unique characteristics listed below:

- Uses associative modeling to conduct searches & interact with dashboards & analytics from any device without limiting a user to predefined paths or preconfigured dashboards.
- Provides data associated with users' selections but also shows, using a color-coded format, data not requested that can prompt new questions & discoveries.
- Employs an "in-memory" core technology that holds data in memory for multiple users where it is available for immediate exploration & dynamically & instantaneously performs user-defined calculations. The tool is not limited to predefined data joins made by IT & it stores common calculations & shares them among users so they do not have to reconfigure each time.
- Eliminates reliance on IT to create data models, build semantic layer, create queries & build reports. All data can be derived & configured by end user.

Delivery Point: Charleston, SC

Qualified Vendors Should Contact: Wendy Williams, (843) 953-5506, wiliamsw@cofc.edu. Please use "Intent to Sole Source" in subject line.
