UNION COUNTY TRANSIT FEASIBILITY STUDY

Planners, engineers, and other related professionals are requested to submit proposals to provide professional services for a Transit Feasibility Study for Union County, South Carolina. The goal of the Union County Transit Feasibility Study is to determine the viability of public transit in Union County. The County, in cooperation with the City of Union and the towns of Carlisle, Jonesville, and Lockhart, received South Carolina State Mass Transit Funds from the South Carolina Department of Transportation to conduct the study to evaluate the needs, consider alternatives, and recommend implementation strategies. The Transit Feasibility Study will consider economic development with an emphasis on jobs and job related training transportation as well as general rural public transit opportunities. It is anticipated that the Transit Feasibility Study will also assist with applicable transit funding possibilities and requirements.

The intended outcome of this project is to identify public need and benefit, likely transit users, analysis of possible alternatives and a recommendation on the best alternative for Union County's public transit needs. The components of the study shall include public engagement, transit needs, alternatives, and a recommended transit system approach with implementation strategies. The study shall be delivered within a budget of $40,000.00.

Download the Request for Proposals at Union County's website www.countyofunion.org and the Catawba Regional Council of Governments' website www.catawbacog.org. The Request for Proposals document includes project objectives, scope of services, submittal requirements and project schedule.

Submittals will be evaluated generally using the following criteria:

- Project approach to meet goals and address local issues and needs. (40 %)
- Experience and previous related work of key personnel particularly experience with transit feasibility studies and implementation tools. (30 %)
- Depth of relevant qualifications of the consultant team required to successfully complete all identified study elements. (25 %)
- Disadvantaged Business Enterprise participation in the project. (5%)

Questions regarding the project should be submitted to Kara W. Drane, AICP, Senior Planner at kdrane@catawbacog.org. Questions and answers will be posted periodically at www.catawbacog.org. Interested professionals should submit one original, six copies of proposals, and one PDF version no later than 10:00am on 9/21/2015. Any submittal received after the date and time specified above will be rejected, considered non-responsive, and will not be opened. All responses shall be submitted in a sealed envelope.

The outside of the package shall be marked "Request for Proposals – Union County Transit Feasibility Study" and sent to:

Ms. Linda G. Jolly, Clerk to Council
Union County
210 West Main Street
Union, SC 29379
